

This northern Minnesota remote cabin is located close to the BWCA in a road-less area not far from our Homestead on White Iron Lake.

We will help transport your gear and supplies to the remote cabin and back.

The Cabin is 22' x 16' with a wrap around deck area overlooking huge red and white pines. It is situated on a solid ledge rock formation. There are lots of windows which provide an abundance of natural light and great outdoor viewing. The inside of the cabin is all knotty pine. There is a woodstove for heating and propane stove and refrigerator for cooking. Propane gas lights. We also have a separate sauna building with attached bunkhouse for your bathing enjoyment. The cabin has no indoor plumbing or electricity, but is constructed for comfortable summer and winter time use. The cabin has cell phone capability.

For a real wilderness experience while staying in a very comfortable remote cabin check out this unique setting. You won't be disappointed.
